Architect Cooper was present at the meeting and matters pertaining to the new school building were talked over.

SUPPLY OF ANTITOXIN ANNOUNCED

State Arranges to Care for Independence Day Victims

TELL WHERE TO GO

The 69 antitoxin stations throughout the Commonwealth have received their supplies from the Department of Health and are ready to meet the usual Fourth of July demands.

The antitoxin will be furnished without cost to the poor and the stations are so located that every part of Pennsylvania is within easy reach of one. It is essential that the tetanus antitoxin be administered within 24 to 48 hours after the wound has been inflicted.

Any physician can secure an immunizing dose or 1,500 units free upon applying to a distributing station, on certifying that it is for the treatment of a person too poor to pay. In urging the prompt use of antitoxin to prevent lockjaw following explosive and other wounds, Dr. Dixon, Commissioner of Health says:

"Do not consider any such wounds trivial, send for a physician at once. If it is impossible to promptly secure his attendance, wash out the wound thoroughly with hot, boiled water, remove every particle of foreign matter and until the doctor arrives, apply a wet dressing; cloths saturated with a solution made by adding a teaspoon full of salt to a pint of boiled water."

The stations in this section where the antitoxin may be secured are at the pharmacies of Valentine Bros., Washington, R. E. Springer, Uniontown, and W. K. Ehrenfeld, Greensburg.

Will Hold Preparatory Service.
Preparatory service to communion next Sunday will be held in the First Presbyterian church tonight and tomorrow night. Rev. C. P. Bastian will preach at the Thursday night service.

ADDITION TO BIG GLASS PLANT WILL BE OPERATED HERE

Macbeth-Evans Factory to Resume With Increased Force Next Monday--Production to be Greatly Increased

Next Monday the entire plant of Macbeth-Evans Glass company here will be started, and this will include a new factory the erection of which was recently completed. By this time extensive repairs to the main factory which have been in progress for some days will be finished.

The new factory is an important addition to the Charleroi plant of the Macbeth-Evans company, and will enable them to enlarge their production to the extent, probably, of from 15 to 20 per cent. The new plant occupies a location to the north of the main factory.

In operating the new factory men will probably be removed from the main plant, and it is understood that out-of-town men will be brought to fill places in the main factory left vacant by these promotions.

The new factory is the second addition to be erected within a year. Last summer a small factory was completed and put into use and is now producing its share of ware. Since that time a new three-story decorating room and a fine new office building have been erected.

DOUBLE TRACK LINE HELPS-ON DONORA TRAFFIC

Cars direct from Riverview to Donora will run after the Fourth of July, it is understood by the Pittsburg Railways company. The Railways company is also considering the feasibility of instituting a new through service schedule to Pittsburg. The change in the Donora traffic is incidental to the putting into use a double track system just completed. It has been the custom for cars to stop at Black Diamond, where transfers have been made.

Addresses Audience of Veterans at Gettysburg Encampment

SPEAKS OF THE UNION

Tells of the Hopes of Strongly Cemented Nation--Pays Tribute to Soldiers

Governor John K. Tener made the address of welcome at the opening ceremonies of the Gettysburg celebration Tuesday. He was given a great ovation, and said in part:

"As governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and speaking for her people, I extend a welcome to the soldiers and sailors both the blue and the gray survivors of the great hosts of brave men who 50 years ago wrote upon the pages of the world's manual history the enduring fame and glory of the American soldier."

"We are today on the greatest battlefield of the Civil War and of the world, not to commemorate a victory, but to rather emphasize the spirit of national brotherhood and national unity which in the years since the close of that war has enabled this republic to move forward and upward until today she leads the nations of the earth in all that makes for the advancement and uplift of the human race."

"Today soldiers of both armies gather as American citizens, the Union soldiers in some instances journeying from Southern states and Confederate soldiers in some instances from Northern states. They come from homes North and South, from homes where they have reared a common progeny and where, through the influence of the fireside, at the school and church they have helped to knit together all sections of our country in fraternal comradeship and perfect unity."

"The great heart of the nation, as honored guests of the nation state. Our sincerest desire is for your greatest enjoyment while here our fondest wish is that when you return to your homes, you may recall in most pleasant memory the scenes and incidents of this day and time."

GETTYSBURG.

It is significant that in the fiftieth anniversary celebration of the battle of Gettysburg, Charleroi figures most conspicuously. Although not officially on the map during the sanguinary period of the civil war, the town has contributed since most lavishly to the elements and forces that are making the commonwealth of Pennsylvania great in the progressive development of the age. The chief executive who is welcoming the once contending hosts of veterans to the celebration at Gettysburg, is a favorite son of Charleroi, and we, as his neighbors and fellow townsmen, are proud of the honour and distinction he has attributed to the memory of Gettysburg awakes patriotic fervor and veneration for the past, it has its lessons for the guidance of the future. On that hallowed spot were delivered the sacred words of the immortal Lincoln—"Government of the people, by the people and for the people." These words have a deeper meaning and significance today than when they were uttered, and they constitute one of the burning issues of the age. The great struggle for more direct government by the people is fully launched, and the fiftieth anniversary celebration at Gettysburg serves to emphasize the uttered precepts that constitute the fundamental foundation for the well being of society.

FORWARDED.

The note of warning sent out by the fire marshal of the state as to timely precautions in the prevention of fire on the Fourth might well be extended to guarding against accidents by the use of explosives. Every celebration even in our own communities, witnesses some accidents of this nature of more or less serious consequences, and parents will do well to exercise care and watchfulness over their young hopefuls in celebrating the glorious Fourth. A little precaution may prevent the boy from being maimed for life.

Every father should make it a point to exercise a personal supervision over his small boys on the Fourth.
That is one day at least when he can afford to join them in holiday making.
He can give them a good time with the comfortable assurance that they will retain their eyesight and all their anatomy when the holiday is ended, and the small sacrifice on his part will be well worth the effort. A bunch of boys turned loose together with firecrackers and other explosives is a deadly menace, and a little precaution and personal supervision will prevent accidents that may carry lifelong regrets.

Why even Pittsburgh looks nice in pic-would say afterwards.

caster who forecasts everything in is to be a big change in weather between July 1 and 4. Now look here, it gets any hotter, folks are going to blame you.

PICKED UP IN PASSING

"Twenty-eight years ago," said a valley newspaper man, "I was working as a compositor on the Knoxville, Tennessee, Chronicle. That was before the days of linotypes, and all type on daily newspapers, as well as everywhere else was set by hand. In the office was an old time printer, Tom Barnett, by name, who had been a confederate soldier. He was an ex-cavalryman, having served in Stuart's cavalry. After we got acquainted and he learned I was from Pennsylvania he related some of his experiences of the Gettysburg campaign.

"We started to invade the north in high feather," said Barnett, "and every man of us was full of confidence and courage. We confidently expected to capture Harrisburg and Philadelphia and make peace in New York City. Things looked rosy to us until after we crossed the Pennsylvania line and then a change came over our spirits. We had been used to the ravages and desolation of war —to seeing everything at a standstill in the country we had been fighting over, with all the men at the front, and only women, old men and slaves on the plantations and in the towns.

"In Pennsylvania things were different. There we saw well cultivated farms, with able bodied men working in the fields, and everything looking as peaceful and prosperous as though there was no such thing as war in the country. In the towns we struck everything seemed to be moving along as it always had. We saw small industries with men at work and there was no signs of poverty and desolation like there was down in our own country.

"I'll never forget the feeling that seemed to spread over our entire force
when we got into Pennsylvania.
From the careless, devil-may-care crowd that we were when we started, we became gloomy, despondent and actually afraid, even before we encountered any of the Federals. We seemed to scent impending disaster.

"It's no use, boys," said one of our fellows. "The Yanks have had us licked from the start. By the look of things up here they haven't yet begun to fight, and can keep it up forever, while we're making our last effort. The jig is up with us, boys."

"I thought of that remark many times afterward," said Barnett, "in that awful retreat from Gettysburg.
I pulled through without a scratch, but I knew from that time on that we were licked sure enough."

A teacher had been telling her class that recently worms had become so numerous that they destroyed the crops, and it was necessary to import the English sparrow to exterminate them; that the sparrows multiplied very fast and were gradually driving away our native birds.

Johnny was apparently very inattentive, and the teacher, thinking to catch him napping, said:

"Johnny, which is worse to have worms or sparrows?"

Johnny hesitated a moment and then replied:

"Please, I never had the sparrows."

BEATEN 8 TO 5

AT CALIFORNIA

At California Tuesday afternoon the Charleroi Independents defeated the California Independents by the score of 8 to 5. Charleroi went to the normal town with a mixed up team, Manager Mathers being unable to have all his regulars report. The game was a thriller after a manner and there were lots of features. California had 13 stolen bases. Tillie Dewar, the noted athlete, who formerly played with Charleroi in the Magic City's minor league days, featured at second base for California, and in addition to this negotiated three beautiful bingles. Charleroi's batting rally in the seventh inning proved a surprise to the Californians and resulted in all their scores being made.

Charleroi will play two games at home on the Fourth of July, when they will have as opponents the strong Braddock team.

VOCAL PUPILS OF MRS. KING GIVE RECITAL

An interesting program of vocal numbers was presented Tuesday evening at the First Baptist church by Mrs. Flora M. S. King, and her vocal pupils, when she gave her first recital.
Three Pittsburgers assisted Mrs.
King and the local people, adding to the attraction as a musical event.

Numbers were so arranged as to best suit the individual performers.
All the singers accented themselves well. Mrs. A. G. Lewis had the first suite of songs, rendering "Mignon"
by d'Harleot and "The Lark Now Leaves His Watery Nest" by Parker.
Lawrence Gibson, tenor, from Pittsburg sang, "When Soft the Vesper Sparrow Sings" by Marston and "I Hear You Calling Me," by Marshall.
Mrs. C. C. Wright of Charleroi rendered "Slave Song," del Reigo and
"Through a Primrose Land," Spross, and sang the first soprano part to a trio "Memory," Leslie. Miss Margaret Thompson of Homestead and Mr. Gibson sang the contralto and tenor parts respectively of this trio
"Contentment," by Salter and "Sunrise and Sunset" were solos rendered by Miss Margaret McDermott.

Two piano selections were rendered, and they were both by Mr. Gibson. He played "Valse Caprice," Newland and an arrangement for the left hand of Nevins' "The Rosary."

Miss Celia McDermott sang two songs, "The Way of June," by Willeby, and "Persian Serenade," Cooke.
Mrs. Lewis and Mr. Gibson rendered a duet "Come to My Heart," Millard.
Miss Thompson sang, "Evening Love Song" by Chipman and "The Message" by Caverly. Thomas McDermott gave "Drink to me Only With Thine Eyes," Old English and "Te
You," Spence. Marchetti's beautiful trio, "Ave Marie" was well rendered by Mrs. Wright, Mrs. Rowsell, of Pittsburg and Miss Thompson. The closing number was a chorus selection, "Good Night, Good Night, Beloved," by Pissaul.

It would be a difficult matter to select from among the various numbers rendered the very best. The result of excellent training was shown in the songs sung alike by sopranos, con-traltos and tenors. The final chorus was one of the most enjoyed numbers in it appearing practically all of Mrs.
King's pupils here and one or two singers to assist.

Miss Elsie Crill was the accompanist. Her work was deserving of commendation. Pupils of Mrs. King, including those from Pittsburg who assisted are: Miss Valerie Cocain, Miss Edith Crill, Miss Florence Crill, Mrs.
Emma Dawson, Miss Edith Hazlett,
Miss Mabel Gaut, Mrs. A. G. Lewis,
Miss Celia McDermott, Miss Margaret McDermott, Miss Mary Provins, Miss Margaret Thompson, Mrs. C. C.
Wright, Edga. Cocain, George Geh-ring, Lawrence Gibson and Thomas McDermott.

End of a Noted Folly.

The monocle has long since been out of fashion in England, and is soon to disappear from Paris, which has been its last stronghold. It was invented by a Dutch dandy, and its evil effects upon the eye were at once noted by oculists. The monocle first appeared at the congress of Vienna in 1814, when it was worn by its inventor. One folly, at least, has had only about a century of life.

QUEER FACTS ABOUT MONEY

Average Lifetime of Various Denominations of Paper Currency Differs Considerably.

The average lifetime of the different denominations of United States paper currency differs considerably; that of the $1 silver certificate, for instance, being a trifle over one year; the $5 silver certificate, 1.9 years; the $10 gold certificate, 1.68 years; $20 gold certificate, 1.9 years, etc. The number of pieces of United States paper currency in circulation is gradually increasing and numbered 327,329,153 on June 30, 1912. There were $73,426,336 pieces of United States currency redeemed during the same period, which exceeded by 6,218,415 the number of pieces issued the preceding year. The increasing growth in redemptions is due primarily to the growth in business activities, the publicity given to uncleanliness and alleged insanitation of soiled notes, and the consequent demand for cleaner money; the growing practice of payment of wages in factories, shops, etc., weekly and bi-weekly, as compared with monthly; and growing popularity of paper money in sections where silver was formerly in the greatest demand, etc.—Leslie's Weekly.

UNIQUE EXAMPLE OF LOYALTY

Popular Daughter of Prominent Chinese Official Is Married to Large Red Vase.

Not long ago considerable commotion was caused in the Chinese city of Hankow when the attractive and popular daughter of a prominent Chinese official was married with great pomp and ceremony to a large red vase which was supposed to represent a deceased bridegroom who had died a few years before his marriage. Whereupon his grief-stricken bride-elect declared that she would never marry any one else, but would devote herself as a widow for the rest of her life to the family of her husband. In order to do this, however, it was necessary that she should legally belong to that family and so the strange ceremony with the vase was gone through with to enable her to become a member of the family. Since then it has been suggested that an arch should be built in the city in order to commemorate the devotion of the young girl to the husband she never had.

China Market for Hats.

Men who have wondered what becomes of the large stocks of hats, caps and clothing that remain unsold at the close of each season in this country will be interested to learn that a considerable portion of such stock is disposed of in China, where the men are adopting the dress of their western brothers. The rising generation of Chinese is particularly keen for headgear worn in America, but the styles seen there are always those that were in vogue in this country the year before.

Much of the men's apparel that fails to find a market in this country finds its way to the far east. In a walk through the streets of any Chinese city one sees derbies, fedoras and caps that bear an American label. Most of the caps are of British make because many of the tourists come from London, and in selecting a cap the native has no guide except the headgear he sees on foreigners.

Coal and the X-Ray.

It is now believed that the mystery of the formation and constitution of coal, which has long puzzled students, will be solved by means of the X-ray. According to a French scientific journal, there are two or three kinds of ash in coals: First, the foreign matter carried by the wind or the rain into the forests that gave rise to the coal. Next there is the mineral matter that forms part of living plants. Finally, there is generally more or less mineral matter due to the formation of new compounds by the decomposition of the first two kinds of ash. The examination of coal with the X-rays will probably lead to a possible distinction between these three forms of ash, and will thus contribute to throw light on the formation of veins.

Bottle-Fed Fruit.

Little feeding is the latest wrinkle in the growing of the enormous winter hothouse fruit, and it has increased the fruit's size and sweetness 30 or 90 per cent. Peaches and pears are like pumpkins; grapes and strawberries like apples.

When a peach or a pear is young and green and hard, the gardener passes through it a needle and thread of coarse cotton, leaving both thread ends sticking out. He does this till eight or ten ends are obtained. These ends he puts into bottles of sugar and water syrup, and the syrup, flowing along the cotton, is absorbed by the fruit, sucked up by it—sucked up as babes suck up milk—the fruit, in a word, is bottle-fed.

Arguing It Out.

"The horse is superior to the automobile at every point."
"Nonsense. You can't name a point."
"Well, for one thing, you can eat horse meat. Thousands do."
"I've tried it. I'd just as soon have a piece of rubber tire with gasoline sauce."

Secret No Longer.

Marryat—So that great inventor is dead and his wonderful secret is lost—Newitt—Not at all. He told it to his wife just before he died.
Marryat—Yes, that's what I mean—Stray Stories.

Thanks to the Cartoonist.

Party emblems that figure on balloons represent the more serious purposes and type the traditions of various political followings; but the emblems that the cartoonists and humorists have established are the more popular, because they represent that cheerful mood in which a majority of persons attack politics without abandoning the earnest aim that underlies its manifestations.—Judge.

Science and Death.

"Even in the face of the inexorable law of death," says the Lancet, "science still has a consoling message. It can hold out the hope that one day the ravages of disease may so far be eliminated that death will be nothing more than a quiet and painless phenomenon. It will cease to be feared, and come even to be desired as a fitting close to a weary day."

Watch Built in a Pearl.

A tiny watch, which has been made inside a pearl as large as a big pea, has just been constructed by Gallopin & Co. of Geneva, fifteen months being spent on the work. The empty pearl weighed forty-five grains and in diameter is less than an inch. This pearl watch can be worn on a ring or as a pendant and cost $6,000.

Still at It.

"I wonder what has become of my husband. Three days ago I sent him to match a sample at a department store. He hasn't been seen since."
"I saw him yesterday. He was at the third counter of the fourteenth aisle, and was just starting for the fourteenth counter of the third aisle."—Washington Herald.

Caution.

"Shall I empty your wastebasket?" asked the janitor. "It is brimful of correspondence." "No," answered the man who is combining politics with high finance. "Just hand me my bonds and stock certificates and I'll stuff 'em in some pigeonhole so that you can lock the waste-basket in the safe."

"Costermonger."

Ribbed costard apples, a cooking kind, are now to be seen in the shops. The costard is referred to in the household accounts of Edward I., in whose reign the street seller of the apple was called a costardmonger—hence "costermonger" and "coster."—London Standard.

Apology.

Conjuror—"Now, sir, you admit that the card you have just taken out of the handkerchief is the queen of clubs, yet the card you chose and securely hid there—namely, the ace of spades—I now produce from this hat." Timid Volunteer—"So sorry—my mistake."—Punch.

Home Happiness.

Probably nineteen-twentieths of the happiness you will ever have, you will get at home. The independence that comes to a man when his work is over, and the feeling that he has run out of the storm into the quiet harbor of home, where he can rest in peace and with his family, is something real.

Poetry at the Bottom of the Mug.

"He will work," said a Tottenham (Eng.) constable of a defendant, "if he knows there is a pint of beer at the end of the job." This must have been very much the sort of thing Tennyson had in mind when he wrote "Follow the Glean."

To Sterilize Cistern Water.

Cistern water can be thoroughly sterilized by the addition of one-tenth of a grain of hypochloride of lime to the gallon. This does not injure the water for laundry and bathing purposes.

Precious Attributes.

"Why are diamonds so highly valued?" "I suppose," replied Mr. Groucher, "it's because they are made of carbon, which is the equivalent of coal, and at the same time look like ice."

Dog Earned His License.

The little fox terrier of L. N. Hanky, won for his master a license tag for the killing of 100 rats. The prize was offered, when the canine had killed 30 in two weeks, by a member of the council.—Carlisle Advocate.

Pity.

A girl who has a steady beau feels the same kind of pity for the girl who sits alone night after night that the boy who can dive has for the one who is afraid to wade in "above his knees."

As a Precaution.

Get a dozen tiny bells, and every time a bottle of poison is brought into the house tie a bell to the neck. Even in the dark the bell will tinkle its warning.

One More Item.

Not that we cannot think of other ways of frittering away money, but some day we hope to be rich enough to afford a "going away coat" for our dog.—Houston Post.

Cheap Dish.

PROUD OF HIS SELF-CONTROL

Mrs. Brown Could Agree With How Liege Lord, Too, That It Was Something Uncommon.

Mr. Brown was excitable by nature, but he often prided himself audibly upon his self-control. One night while the family were gathered at the tea table the chimney began to roar; the furnace draft had been opened and forgotten. Straightway a panic ensued. "Don't lose your heads—keep cool!" cried Mr. Brown. "It's nothing serious."

He dashed up the stairs, discovered that the metal cap over the only unused stovepipe hole was already red hot, and dashed down again faster than he went up.

"K-keep cool!" he gasped, as he passed through the room where the family had gathered in nervous apprehension. "I'll be back in a minute."

He was back in less than that time, having observed that the flames were spouting several feet high from the chimney, and that a shower of sparks was falling upon the roof.

"Wh-where's the step-ladder?" he panted.

He was gone before anyone could answer the question, and presently was heard bellowing from the roof of the woodshed. He presented an heroic figure in the glare of the blazing chimney.

"I've got one end of the hose!" he called. "Some one attach the other end and turn on the water—quick!"

Two long minutes passed. "Why doesn't some one do as I ordered?" he thundered. "Do you want the place to burn up?"

"We can't, Henry!" called Mrs. Brown, tremblingly. "You haven't got the hose—you've got the cow-ropes. It was hanging next to the hose in the shed. And anyway, the roof is covered with ice, and I don't think there's any great danger outside. You'd better go and watch the chimney from the inside."

A half-hour later the family were again at the tea table.

"If this had happened in some homes," remarked Mr. Brown, "the family would have lost their heads completely and sent in an alarm. Self-control is an excellent thing—and far from common."

"Indeed it is!" agreed Mrs. Brown, emphatically.—Youth's Companion.

BASEBALL FOR THE FARMER

Possibly the Game Might Be of Benefit to Him, But It Is Hardly Indispensable.

Baseball never has been regarded exclusively as a city product. While it is true that the cities supply the enormous crowds that support the big leagues, it is equally true that many of the players in those leagues are graduates of the "bush" leagues. The country boy has an equal chance with the city boy to win the high honors and generous emoluments of a successful ball player. The farmer himself has not come directly in touch with the national game, perhaps, except on a rare holiday. A professor in the Kansas State Agricultural college calls this a mistake. Familiarity with the game, he believes, would promote success in agriculture. If the farmer would play ball "it would take the shamble out of his walk" and "make him decide quickly." This is an interesting theory, but it will not be universally accepted. Some will contend that the motor car has already taken the "shamble" out of the farmer's walk. Others will insist that handling a high spirited horse or pitching a load of hay on a wagon while a thunderstorm is gathering is just as valuable in training his mental faculties to quick action.—Rochester Democrat and Chronicle.

Rose Culture in Bulgaria.

White and red roses are grown, the former being easier to cultivate, but giving only about half as much oil of an inferior quality. The individual growers distill their own oil. Twelve to fifteen kilos of roses are distilled with 60 kilos of water until 12 kilos of distillate are obtained; eight to ten such lots are then united, and redistilled into long necked flasks, in which the oil separates on standing. To produce one kilo of oil requires 3,000 kilos of roses of 1,200,000 flowers. The roses are gathered in the early morning and distilled the same day. The pure oil from the various districts shows variations in odor and physical properties and is therefore skillfully blended by the distributing houses before sale. Adulteration is very largely carried on by the peasants, who use ginger grass oil, palmarosa oil, geranium oil, etc. The production for 1910 was 3,145 kilos.—The Pharmaceutical Era.

We Are Creatures of Habit.

There was no rush at the moment and the ticket chopper had time to talk to the man waiting for a friend in a subway station. "Yes, we see lots of queer people here," he said, "and we have nearly the same people every day and at the same hour. I know men who do not vary a minute in a week in their reaching the ticket box. The queerest man we have at this station we call 'the whistler.' Every morning at 7:20 he drops his ticket in the box and he always whistles. That wouldn't be so funny, but for years it has always been the same tune. We all know the tune, but no one knows the song. His ticket goes in the box at the same note every morning, and then he walks to the third lost, opens his paper and whistles till the train comes."—New York Tribune.

WEDDING PRETTY FUNCTION SAYS EASTERN PAPER

The following story appeared in the Doylestown Daily Intelligencer of the wedding of Miss Lomas Walton, formerly of Charleroi and Chester Bratsing, a Doylestown young business man.

"Overdone Farm," the beautiful home of M. and Mrs. S. Anson Walton, at Edinboro, was on Tuesday evening the scene of the brilliant wedding of their daughter, Miss Sarah Jane Lomas Walton, and Chester E. Bratsing of Doylestown, in the presence of an assemblage of nearly 150 relatives and friends from Harrisburg, Charleroi, Pittsburg, Rice's Landing, Philadelphia, Hatboro, Jenkintown, and Doylestown, Pa., and Savannah, Ga., among whom was Governor John E. Tener, a close personal friend of the family of the bride.

Because of the uncertainty of the weather the wedding was solemnized in the large drawing room of the residence instead of on the spacious lawn. The house was handsomely decorated with roses, sweet pea, maiden-hair fern and foliage plants, particularly the drawing room in which the ceremony was performed at 6 o'clock by the Rev. A. C. Wright of Freehold, N. J., formerly pastor of the First Baptist Church of Doylestown, before a bower of potted plants. The color scheme was pink and white. To the strains of the wedding march played by Miss Gertrude Major of Danboro, Pa., the bridal party entered at 6 o'clock. The bride was charming in white crepe meteor, entourage, trimmed with lace and pearls that had been worn by her mother at her wedding, wore orange blossoms and a veil and carried a beautiful shower bouquet of orchids and lilies of the valley.

Attending her were the maid of honor, Miss Helen Peters of Monongahela City, who wore pink charmeuse, en train, draped with shadow lace, and carried a bouquet of pink and white rose-buds, and the bridesmaids, Miss Alma Brown of Savannah, Ga., and Miss Helen Haddon of Doylestown who wore dresses of pink messaline draped with white tulle, and caps of white tulle with natural roses on the sides and carried bouquets of pink roses. The pretty little flower girls, Miss Elizabeth Tasker of Rice's Landing, and Miss Dorothy Sharpnack of Charleroi, wore white swiss and carried baskets filled with roses. Master John Walton, brother of the bride, was the ring bearer.

The best man was John Roberts of Jenkintown, and the ushers were Ernest Jones of Hatboro and Herbert Nicholas, of Doylestown.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, Mrs. Walton was attired in lavender brocade satin, en train. After the ceremony and congratulations there was a wedding dinner for the bridal party and refreshments were served on the lawn to the guests by Caterers. Brashears of Doylestown. As the bridal party entered the dining room they were showered with rose petals and were seated about a handsome colonial table which had belonged to the bride's grandparents.

The decorations were by John Tasker, of the Walton greenhouses at Rice's Landing, Pa. The flowers were very beautiful.

Later in the evening excitement was rife, each bridesmaid eager to be the fortunate one to catch the bouquet of the bride, the young folks alert to play their pranks upon the newly married couple and the whole assemblage watchful for the expected departure. But the plans had been carefully kept secret and great was the amusement of the guests when it was found that the jokers had in their zeal put the "Just Married" sign on the back of the wrong automobile and the party was seen motoring away toward Philadelphia blissfully ignorant of the misplaced decoration. When the bride and groom finally dashed from the front door toward one of the waiting automobiles amid a shower of rice the excitement was so intense that the eager bridesmaid wholly overlooked the flying bouquet of the bride.

Undoubtedly it was one of the most brilliant as well as one of the largest weddings in the vicinity of the County Seat for many years. The wedding gifts, which more than filled one large room, were particularly beautiful and attractive, especially those from the families of the young people and there was an infinite variety.

The plans of the bride and groom were carefully guarded. On their return they will reside temporarily at "Overdone Farm" and will be at home on Tuesday after August 1st.

Recovered From Severe Lung Trouble

While we all know that plenty of fresh air and good food are necessary to preserve health, it is not always realized that more is needed to bring about full health. Eckman's Alternative is a medicine for throat and lung troubles, and so many reports have been received showing that it brought about good results in a number of cases which were declared hopeless, that all sufferers who are not benefiting otherwise, should, at least investigate what it has done for others. It may be the means of restoring you to health. Investigate this case:—

"Gentlemen: In December, 1908, and March, 1909, I was taken with hemorrhages of the lungs, which confined me several weeks each time to my bed. These attacks were very weak and I coughed at night and could not sleep. My appetite also failed me. My doctor advised me to go West. So in September, 1909, I planned to go, but I had four more hemorrhages, which put me in bed for three weeks. In November I started for Denver, Col. After my arrival I met Michael Brody, who, upon learning of my condition, urged me to take Eckman's Alternative. In about two months I began to feel better. I kept on taking the medicine and improved fast. In March, 1910, I returned home. I think I am entirely well, have a good appetite and sleep well. When I left Denver my weight was 120 pounds. I now weigh 165, my normal weight. I thank God and your Alternative for my health. If I can help any other person suffering from Tuberculosis, I will gladly do so."

Eckman's Alternative is effective in Bronchitis, Asthma, Hay Fever, Throat and Lung Troubles, and in rebuilding the system. Does not contain poisons, opiates or habit-forming drugs. REGULAR MEETING HELD

Watering Troughs Received to be Located on Third and Seventh Streets

Two of the chief features of the regular monthly council meeting held Tuesday evening was the receiving of estimates on borough improvements made by contractors for the borough. One of the estimates was from Hastings and Piper for $512.62 for improvements made out Lincoln avenue extension. It was in one, the first and last estimate, on the work of connecting up streets there, and the sum was ordered paid.

Thomas Arrigo, contractor on the work of grading and paving parts of Fallowfield avenue and Long alley, presented an estimate for Fallowfield avenue work of $2,233.57 and for Long alley work of $1,208.25. The sum of $3,426.82, or the total for all the work was ordered paid.

Councilman Oscar C. Linn reported that two watering troughs ordered by the Charleroi Water company as a donation to the borough had arrived. One of the troughs will be located on Seventh street between McKean avenue and Fallowfield avenue, and the other on Third street between the same two avenues.

An ordinance was taken up permitting the West Side Electric Street Railways company to change one of their tracks on Fallowfield avenue between First and Second streets and the ordinance passed first reading.

The auditor's report for the year of 1912 was presented by Auditors L. J. Mitchell and H. F. Parsons and accepted. It was ordered printed.

Reports of the treasurer, Burgess and tax collector were received and ordered filed. Burgess George W. Risbeck reported that there had been 68 arrests made during June and $92.90 in fines had been assessed. Of the fines $23.00 was served out in time.

Tax Collector J. W. Mathias reported that the total sum of $366.53 had been received and turned over to the treasurer for the taxes of 1910, 1911 and 1912.

Architect Cooper was present at the meeting and matters pertaining to the new school building were talked over.

SUPPLY OF ANTITOXIN ANNOUNCED

State Arranges to Care for Independence Day Victims

TELL WHERE TO GO

The 69 antitoxin stations throughout the Commonwealth have received their supplies from the Department of Health and are ready to meet the usual Fourth of July demands.

The antitoxin will be furnished without cost to the poor and the stations are so located that every part of Pennsylvania is within easy reach of one. It is essential that the tetanus antitoxin be administered within 24 to 48 hours after the wound has been inflicted.

Any physician can secure an immunizing dose or 1,500 units free upon applying to a distributing station, on certifying that it is for the treatment of a person too poor to pay. In urging the prompt use of antitoxin to prevent lockjaw following explosive and other wounds, Dr. Dixon, Commissioner of Health says:

"Do not consider any such wounds trivial, send for a physician at once. It is impossible to promptly secure his attendance, wash out the wound thoroughly with hot, boiled water, remove every particle of foreign matter and until the doctor arrives, apply a wet dressing; cloths saturated with a solution made by adding a teaspoon full of salt to a pint of boiled water."

The stations in this section where the antitoxin may be secured are at the pharmacies of Valentine Bros., Washington, R. E. Springer, Uniontown, and W. E. Ehrenfeld, Greensburg.

Will Hold Preparatory Service. Preparatory service to communion next Sunday will be held in the First Presbyterian church tonight and tomorrow night. Rev. C. F. Easton will preach at the Thursday night service.

Macbeth-Evans Factory to Resume With Increased Force Next Monday--Production to be Greatly Increased

Next Monday the entire plant of Macbeth-Evans Glass company here will be started and this will include a new factory the erection of which was recently completed. By this time extensive repairs to the main factory which have been in progress for some days will be finished.

The new factory is an important addition to the Charleroi plant of the Macbeth-Evans company, and will enable them to enlarge their production to the extent, probably, of from 15 to 20 per cent. The new plant occupies a location to the north of the main factory.

In operating the new factory men will probably be removed from the main plant and it is probable that out-of-town men will be brought to fill places in the main factory left vacant by these promotions.

The new factory is the second addition to be erected within a year. Last summer a small factory was completed and put into use and is now producing its share of ware. Since that time a new three-story decorating room and a fine new office building have been erected.

Cars direct from Riverview to Donora will run after the Fourth of July, it is understood by the Pittsburgh Railways company. The Railways company is also considering the feasibility of instituting a new through service schedule to Pittsburgh. WEDDING PRETTY FUNCTION SAYS EASTERN PAPER

The following story appeared in the Doylestown Daily Intelligencer of the wedding of Miss Lomas Walton, formerly of Charleroi and Chester Bratsing, a Doylestown young business man:

"Overdene Farm," the beautiful home of Mr. and Mrs. S. Anson Walton, at Edison, was on Tuesday evening the scene of the brilliant wedding of their daughter, Miss Sarah Jane Lomas Walton, and Chester E. Bratsing of Doylestown, in the presence of an assemblage of nearly 150 relatives and friends from Harrisburg, Charleroi, Pittsburg, Rice's Landing, Philadelphia, Harboro, Jenkintown, and Doylestown, Pa., and Savannah, Ga., among whom was Governor John E. Tener, a close personal friend of

Because of the uncertainty of the weather the wedding was solemnized in the large drawing room of the residence instead of on the spacious lawn. The house was handsomely decorated with roses, sweet peas, maiden-hair fern and foliage plants, particularly the drawing room in which the ceremony was performed at 6 o'clock by the Rev. A. C. Wright of Freehold, N. J., formerly pastor of the First Baptist Church of Doylestown, before a bower of ported plants. The color scheme was pink and white. To the strains of the wedding march played by Miss Gertrude Major, of Danboro, Pa., the bridal party entered at 6 o'clock. The bride was charming in white crepe meteor, pearls, trimmed with lace and ensembles that had been worn by her mother at her wedding, wore orange blossoms and a veil and carried a beautiful shower bouquet of orchids and lilies of the valley.

Attending her were the maid of honor, Miss Helen Peters of Monongahela City, who wore pink champagne, en train, draped with shadow lace, and carried a bouquet of pink and white rose-buds, and the bridesmaids, Miss Alma Brown of Savannah, Ga., and Miss Helen Haddon of Doylestown who wore dresses of pink messaline draped with white tulle, and caps of white tulle with natural roses on the sides and carried bouquets of pink roses. The pretty little flower girls, Miss Elizabeth Tasker of Rice's Landing, and Miss Dorothy Sharpnack of Charleroi, wore white swiss and carried baskets filled with roses. Master John Walton, brother of the bride, was the ring bearer.

The best man was John Roberts of Jenkintown, and the ushers were Ernest Jones of Harboro and Herbert Nicholas, of Doylestown.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, Mrs. Walton was attired in lavender: brocade satin, en train.

After the ceremony and congratulations there was a wedding dinner for the bridal party and refreshments were served on the lawn to the guests by Caterers: Brashears of Doylestown. As the bridal party entered the dining room they were showered with rose petals and were seated about a handsome colonial table which had belonged to the bride's grandparents.

The decorations were by John Tasker, of the Walton greenhouses at Rice's Landing, Pa. The flowers were very beautiful.

Later in the evening excitement was rife, each bridesmaid eager to be the fortunate one to catch the bouquet of the bride, the young folks alert to play their pranks upon the newly married couple and the whole assemblage watchful for the expected departure. But the plans had been carefully kept secret and great was the amusement of the guests when it was found that the jokers had in their zeal put the "Just Married" sign on the back of the wrong automobile and the party was seen motor-ing away toward Philadelphia blissfully ignorant of the misplaced decoration. When the bride and groom finally dashed from the front door toward one of the waiting automobiles amid a shower of rice the excitement was so intense that the eager bridesmaid wholly overlooked the flying bouquet of the bride.

Undoubtedly it was one of the most brilliant as well as one of the largest weddings in the vicinity of the County Seat for many years. The wedding gifts, which more than filled one large room, were particularly beautiful and attractive, especially those from the families of the young people and there was an infinite variety.

The plans of the bride and groom were carefully guarded. On their return they will reside temporarily at "Overdene Farm" and will be at home on Tuesday after August 1st.

Recovered From Severe Lung Trouble

While we all know that plenty of fresh air and good food are necessary to persons suffering from lung trouble, something more is needed to bring about full health. Eckman's Alternative is a medicine for throat and lung troubles, and so many reports have been received showing that it brought about good results in a number of cases which were declared hopeless, that all sufferers who are not benefiting otherwise, should at least investigate what it has done for others. It may be the means of restoring you to health. Investigate this case.

Madison Lake, Minn.
"Gentlemen: In December, 1908, and March, 1909, I was taken with hemorrhages of the lungs, which confined me several weeks each time to my bed. These left me very weak and I coughed at nights and could not sleep. My appetite also failed me. My doctor advised me to go West. So, in September, 1910, I planned to go, but I had four more hemorrhages, which put me in bed for three weeks. In November I started for Denver, Col. After my arrival, I met Michael Brody, who, upon learning of my condition, urged me to take Eckman's Alternative. After about two months, I began to feel better. I kept on taking the medicine and improved fast. In March, 1910, I returned home. I think I am entirely well, have a good appetite and sleep well. When I left Denver my weight was 130 pounds; I now weigh 165, my normal weight. I thank God and your Alternative for my health. If I can help any other person suffering from Tuberculosis, I will gladly do so."

(Sworn affidavit) PAUL L. FASNAUGHT. Eckman's Alternative is effective in Bronchitis, Asthma, Hay Fever, Throat and Lung Troubles, and in upbuilding the system. Does not contain poisons, opiates or habit-forming drugs. Ask for booklet telling of recoveries and write to Eckman Laboratory, Philadelphia, Pa., for more evidence. QUEEN FACTS ABOUT MONEY

Average Lifetime of Various Denominations of Paper Currency Differ Considerably.

The average lifetime of the different denominations of United States paper currency differs considerably; that of the $1 silver certificate, for instance, being a trifle over one year; the $5 silver certificate, 1.9 years; the $10 gold certificate 1.68 years; $20 gold certificate, 1.9 years, etc. The number of pieces of United States paper currency in circulation is gradually increasing and numbered 327,329,185 on June 30, 1912. There were 373,135,336 pieces of United States currency redeemed during the same period, which exceeded by 6,218,415 the number of pieces issued the preceding year. The increasing growth in redemptions is due primarily to the growth in business activities, the publicity given to uncleanness and alleged insanitation of soiled notes, and the consequent demand for cleaner money; the growing practice of payment of wages in factories, shops, etc., weekly and bi-weekly, as compared with monthly; and growing popularity of paper money in sections where silver was formerly in the greatest demand, etc.—Leslie's Weekly.

UNIQUE EXAMPLE OF LOYALTY

Popular Daughter of Prominent Chinese Official Is Married to Large Red Vase.

Not long ago considerable commotion was caused in the Chinese city of Hankow when the attractive and popular daughter of a prominent Chinese official was married with great pomp and ceremony to a large red vase which was supposed to represent a deceased bridegroom who had died a few years before his marriage. Whereupon his grief-stricken bridegroom declared that she would never marry any one else, but would devote herself as a widow for the rest of her life to the family of her husband. In order to do this, however, it was necessary that she should legally belong to that family and so the strange ceremony with the vase was gone through with to enable her to become a member of the family. Since then it has been suggested that an arch should be built in the city in order to commemorate the devotion of the young girl to the husband she never had.

China Market for Hats.

Men who have wondered what becomes of the large stocks of hats, caps and clothing that remain unsold at the close of each season in this country will be interested to learn that a considerable portion of such stock is disposed of in China, where the men are adopting the dress of their western brothers. The rising generation of Chinese is particularly keen for headgear worn in America, but the styles seen there are always those that were in vogue in this country the year before.

Much of the men's apparel that fails to find a market in this country finds its way to the far east. In a walk through the streets of any Chinese city one sees derbies, fedoras and caps that bear an American label. Most of the caps are of British make because many of the tourists come from London, and in selecting a cap the native has no guide except the headgear he sees on foreigners.

Coal and the X-Ray.

It is now believed that the mystery of the formation and constitution of coal, which has long puzzled students, will be solved by means of the X-ray.

According to a French scientific journal, there are two or three kinds of ash in coals: First, the foreign matter carried by the wind or the rain into the forests that gave rise to the coal. Next there is the mineral matter that forms part of living plants. Finally, there is generally more or less mineral matter due to the formation of new compounds by the decomposition of the first two kinds of ash. The examination of coal with the X-rays will probably lead to a possible distinction between these three forms of ash, and will thus contribute to throw light on the formation of veins.

Bottle-Fed Fruit.

Bottle feeding is the latest wrinkle in the growing of the enormous winter hothouse fruit, and it has increased the fruit's size and sweetness 30 or 50 per cent. Peaches and pears are like pumpkins; grapes and strawberries like apples.

When a peach or a pear is young and green and hard, the gardener passes through it a needle and thread of coarse cotton, leaving both thread ends sticking out. He does this till eight or ten ends are obtained. These ends he puts into bottles of sugar and water syrup, and the syrup, flowing along the cotton, is absorbed by the fruit, sucked up by it—sucked up as babes suck up milk—the fruit, in a word, is bottle-fed.

Arguing It Out.

"The horse is superior to the automobile at every point."

"Nonsense. You can't name a point."

"Well, for one thing, you can call a horse a horse. That's an argument."

"I've tried it. I'd just as soon have a piece of rubber tire with gasoline on it."

Secret No Longer.

Married—Yes, that's what I mean—Golf Stories.

Things in the Cartoonists' Party.

Cartoonists represent the more serious purposes and type the traditions of various political followings; but the emblems that the cartoonists and humorists have established are the more popular, because they represent that cheerful mood in which a majority of persons attack politics without abandoning the earnest aim that underlies its manifestations.—Judge.

Science and Death.

"Even in the face of the inexorable law of death," says the Lancet, "science still has a consoling message. It can hold out the hope that one day the ravages of disease may so far be eliminated that death will be nothing more than a quiet and painless phenomenon. It will cease to be feared, and come even to be desired as a fitting close to a weary day."

Watch Built in a Pearl.

A tiny watch, which has been made inside a pearl as large as a big pea, has just been constructed by Gallopini & Co. of Geneva, fifteen months being spent on the work. The empty pearl weighed forty-five grains and in diameter is less than an inch. This pearl watch can be worn on a ring or as a pendant and cost $6,000.

Still at It.

"I wonder what has become of my husband. Three days ago I sent him to match a sample at a department store. He hasn't been seen since." "I saw him yesterday. He was at the third counter of the fourteenth aisle, and was just starting for the fourteenth counter of the third aisle."—Washington Herald.

Caution.

"Shall I empty your wastebasket?" asked the janitor. "It is brimful of correspondence." "No," answered the man who is combining politics with high finance. "Just hand me my bonds and stock certificates and I'll stuff 'em in some pigeonhole so that you can lock the waste-basket in the safe."

"Costermonger."

Ribbed costard apples, a cooking kind, are now to be seen in the shops. The costard is referred to in the household accounts of Edward I, in whose reign the street seller of the apple was called a costardmonger—hence "costermonger" and "coster."—London Standard.

Apology.

Conjuror—"Now, sir, you admit that the card you have just taken out of the handkerchief is the queen of clubs, yet the card you chose and securely tied there—namely, the ace of spades—I now produce from this hat." Timid Volunteer—"So sorry—my mistake."—Punch.

Home Happiness.

Probably nineteen-twentieths of the happiness you will ever have, you will get at home. The independence that comes to a man when his work is over, and the feeling that he has run out of the storm into the quiet harbor of home, where he can rest in peace and with his family, is something real.

Poetry at the Bottom of the Mug.

"He will work," said a Tottenham (Eng.) constable of a defendant, "if he knows there is a pint of beer at the end of the job." This must have been very much the sort of thing Tennyson had in mind when he wrote "Follow the Gleam."

To Sterilize Cistern Water.

Cistern water can be thoroughly sterilized by the addition of one-tenth of a grain of hypochloride of lime to the gallon. This does not injure the water for laundry and bathing purposes.

Precious Attributes.

"Why are diamonds so highly valued?" "I suppose," replied Mr. Groucher, "it's because they are made of carbon, which is the equivalent of coal, and at the same time look like ice."

Dog Earned His License.

The little fox terrier of L. N. Hanley won for his master a license tag for the killing of 100 rats. The prize was offered, when the canine had killed 80 in two weeks, by a member of the council.—Carlisle Advocate.

Pity.

A girl who has a steady beau feels the same kind of pity for the girl who sits alone night after night that the boy who can dive has for the one who is afraid to wade in "above his knees."

As a Precaution.

Get a dozen tiny bells, and every time a bottle of poison is brought into the house tie a bell to the neck. Even in the dark the bell will tinkle its warning.

One More Item.

Not that we cannot think of other ways of frittering away money, but some day we hope to be rich enough to afford a "going away coat" for our dog.—Houston Post.

Cheap Dish.

Hunter's stew can be composed of any ingredients which can be obtained conveniently.—London Globe.

PROUD OF HIS SELF-CONTROL.

Mrs. Brown Could Agree With Her Liege Lord, Too, That It Was Something Uncommon.

Mr. Brown was excitable by nature, but he often prided himself audibly upon his self-control. One night while the family were gathered at the tea table the chimney began to roar; the furnace draft had been opened and forgotten. Straightway a panic ensued. "Don't lose your heads—keep cool!" cried Mr. Brown. "It's nothing serious."

He dashed up the stairs, discovered that the metal cap over the only unused stovepipe hole was already red hot, and dashed down again faster than he went up.

"Keep cool!" he gasped, as he passed through the room where the family had gathered in nervous apprehension. "I'll be back in a minute."

He was back in less than that time, having observed that the flames were spouting several feet high from the chimney, and that a shower of sparks was falling upon the roof.

"Where's the step-ladder?" he panted.

He was gone before anyone could answer the question, and presently was heard bellowing from the roof of the mansion. He presented an heroic figure in the glare of the blazing chimney.

"I've got one end of the hose!" he called. "Some one attach the other end and turn on the water—quick!"

Two long minutes passed.

"Why doesn't some one do as I ordered?" he thundered. "Do you want the place to burn up?"

"We can't, Henry!" called Mrs. Brown, tremblingly. "You haven't got the hose—you've got the cow-ropes. It was hanging next to the hose in the shed. And anyway, the roof is covered with ice, and I don't think there's any great danger outside. You'd better go and watch the chimney from the inside."

A half-hour later the family were again at the tea table.

"If this had happened in some homes," remarked Mr. Brown, "the family would have lost their heads completely and sent in an alarm. Self-control is an excellent thing—and far from common."

"Indeed it is!" agreed Mrs. Brown, emphatically.—Youth's Companion.

BASEBALL FOR THE FARMER

Possibly the Game Might Be of Benefit to Him, But It Is Hardly Indispensable.

Baseball never has been regarded exclusively as a city product. While it is true that the cities supply the enormous crowds that support the big leagues, it is equally true that many of the players in those leagues are graduates of the "bush" leagues. The country boy has an equal chance with the city boy to win the high honors and generous emoluments of a successful ball player. The farmer himself has not come directly in touch with the national game, perhaps, except on a rare holiday. A professor in the Kansas State Agricultural college calls this a mistake. Familiarity with the game, he believes, would promote success in agriculture. If the farmer would play ball "it would take the shamble out of his walk" and "make him decide quickly." This is an interesting theory, but it will not be universally accepted. Some will contend that the motor car has already taken the "shamble" out of the farmer's walk. Others will insist that handling a high spirited horse or pitching a load of hay on a wagon while a thunderstorm is gathering is just as valuable in training his mental faculties to quick action.—Rochester Democrat and Chronicle.

Rose Culture in Bulgaria.

White and red roses are grown, the former being easier to cultivate, but giving only about half as much oil of an inferior quality. The individual growers distill their own oil. Twelve to fifteen kilos of roses are distilled with 60 kilos of water until 12 kilos of distillate are obtained; eight to ten such lots are then united, and redistilled into long necked flasks, in which the oil separates on standing. To produce one kilo of oil requires 3,000 kilos of roses of 1,200,000 flowers. The roses are gathered in the early morning and distilled the same day. The pure oil from the various districts shows variations in odor and physical properties, and is therefore skillfully blended by the distributing houses before sale. Adulteration is very largely carried on by the peasants, who use ginger grass oil, palma rosa oil, geranium oil, etc. The production for 1910 was 3,144 kilos.—The Pharmaceutical Era.

We Are Creatures of Habit.

There was no rush at the moment and the ticket chopper had time to talk to the man waiting for a friend in a subway station. "Yes, we see lots of queer people here," he said, "and we have nearly the same people every day and at the same hour. I know men who do not vary a minute in a week in their reaching the ticket box. The queerest man we have at this station we call 'the whistler.' Every morning at 7:30 he drops his ticket in the box and he always whistles. That wouldn't be so funny, but for years it has always been the same tune. We all know the tune, but no one knows the song. His ticket goes in the box at the same note every morning, and then he walks to the third post, opens his paper and whistles till the train comes."—New York Tribune.
